riko died late in the autumn. A crazy man became bsessed with her and killed her.

le had spotted her on the street and liked what he saw; when he followed her he discovred that the place where she worked was a ay bar.

hocked to find out that this beautiful woman was man, he began writing her long letters and hangng around the bar. The more persistent he was, he colder Eriko and the people at the club be-

One night, screaming that he had been made a fool f, he lunged at her with a knife. Eriko, wounded, rabbed a barbell off the bar—it was part of the lub's decor—with both hands and beat him to eath.

There!" she said. "Self-defense, that makes us ven."

'hose were her last words.
